About Us

Meditrina pays homage to the Roman goddess associated with the art of healing, longevity, and wine itself.

In ancient times, wine was not only a symbol of celebration but also a cherished elixir, believed to possess medicinal properties that fostered health and well-being.

It is this intertwining of heritage and healing that inspired Meditrina Beverages, calling on both time-honoured traditions of viticulture and the restorative joys found in a glass of wine.

Our Vision

Shaped by a clear balance between heritage and progress, we remain committed to the time-honoured practices that have defined winemaking for generations, preserving the craft and knowledge that form our foundation. At the same time, we approach the future with curiosity and intent—exploring new methods, technologies and ideas that are reshaping the beverage industry. This balance allows us to create wines that respect where we've come from while confidently moving towards what's next.
