Welcome

Thank you for joining us for our New Wave Australia masterclass and free-pour tasting in Hamburg.

With ancient soils, innovative winemakers, and diverse climates, Australia has so much to offer and is home to more than 150 grape varieties across 65 wine regions. With so many distinct regions, no rules restricting what can be planted where, and our pioneering, creative winemakers, Australia has one of the most diverse wine scenes in the world.

Get ready to explore new and emerging styles that are shaping the look, feel and taste of modern Australia. Discover a special selection of boundary-pushing wines from Australia's most exciting new wave producers.

Think lighter styles, alternative varieties, minimal intervention, and maximum personality. The line-up demonstrates freshness, balance and terroir, and shows where Australian wine is heading and what is resonating with today's consumers.

The masterclass features twelve wines from seven regions, including Australia's first Assyrtiko from Clare Valley, sparkling wine and Nebbiolo from Adelaide Hills, Pinot Noir Rosé from Margaret River, contemporary Grenache from Barossa, and Chardonnay and Pinot Noir from the up-and-coming cool climate region of Gippsland. You can continue your exploration in the free-pour tasting with 35 wines - aromatic whites, Chardonnay, alternative varieties, Pinot Noir, Grenache, Cabernet Sauvignon, and Shiraz.

If this tasting inspires you and you'd like to find out more about Australian wine, have a look at www.australianwinediscovered.com. Australian Wine Discovered is all you need to know about Australian wine in one place; it's free to use and completely flexible. With comprehensive guides, editable presentations, maps, videos and quizzes, this is a great resource whether you're training your team, preparing for an event, researching, or continuing your own wine education.

We also publish regular Market Bulletins on our website (wineaustralia.com/news/market-bulletin) about the sector, global trends, opportunities and topical issues, and there is a wealth of information on Interactive Insights (wineaustralia.com/market-insights/interactive-insights). Here you can access current and historical statistics and analysis on markets, exports, regions and vintages.

We hope you enjoy today. If you have any queries about Australian wine or the wines featured, please just ask during the masterclass or free-pour tasting, or drop me a line on emma.symington@wineaustralia.com.

Aromatic whites

FREE-POUR TASTING

Australia produces a diverse range of aromatic whites, which are light to medium in body and medium to high in acidity. Varieties include Semillon, Sauvignon Blanc and Riesling. Thriving in Australia's cooler regions, the wines express the diversity of the people who craft them and the unique regional characteristics of their origins. Sauvignon Blanc is Australia's second most planted white variety after Chardonnay, with Riesling further down the list.

Chardonnay

FREE-POUR TASTING

The first Chardonnay cuttings arrived in Australia in the 1830s, and it's now the country's most planted white grape variety. In the 1980s, everything was big: expense accounts, shoulder pads and Chardonnay. Australian Chardonnay was renowned for being rich, oaky, full of flavour and ripe fruit. But a lot has changed since then. With varying winemaking techniques and cool climate sites, there's now a new wave of Australian Chardonnay.

Alternative varieties

FREE-POUR TASTING

Today there are over 150 varieties planted in Australia. Alternative varieties make up around 3% of Australia's vineyard area – a small but exciting percentage. Without laws restricting what can be planted and where, Australia has become a hotbed of innovation and experimentation, with growers and makers exploring how different varieties express themselves in their unique terroir. From Assyrtiko to Zinfandel, these varieties play an important role in many regions, where they complement the classics and keep things fresh.

Pinot Noir

FREE-POUR TASTING

Pinot Noir has a long history in Australia, arriving in the early 1800s, however only recently the wines have captured the attention of the wine world. The wines are elegant, silky and perfumed. Pinot Noir is grown in approximately three quarters of Australian wine regions, with the best in cool climates that benefit from elevation or cooling sea breezes.

Grenache

FREE-POUR TASTING

Grenache was one of the first grapes to be introduced in Australia, and today Australia is home to the oldest Grenache vines in the world, planted in 1850. Originally, Grenache's role was a workhorse grape, used in blends mainly for fortified wines, but with time it has come to be recognised as a hugely characterful and highly prized grape in its own right.

Shiraz

FREE-POUR TASTING

Shiraz made its way to Australia more than two hundred years ago: John MacArthur is widely credited with importing the first cuttings in 1817 from Europe. Today, Shiraz accounts for nearly a quarter of Australia's total wine production and it's the country's biggest exported grape variety. Australian producers aren't resting on their laurels, they're perfecting old concepts and playing with new ideas to continue the evolution of Shiraz.
