Where we operate

Incorporated in New Zealand, our global workforce consists of over 400 employees across Australia, New Zealand, China and the United States, reflecting our established sales markets and production and distribution channels.

Our product portfolio comprises fresh milk, UHT (Ultra High Temperature) milk, ESL (Extended Shelf Life) milk, milk powder, infant nutrition and other nutritional products. Long-standing strategic partners and supplier relationships are an important part of our business.

Other than our supply chain, our operations consist almost solely of permanent (on a full-time or part-time basis) employment of our employees in Australia, New Zealand, China and the United States. A small proportion of our employees are engaged on a fixed term contract (4%) or on a contractual basis through an agency (5%). These agency contractors are based in Australia or the United States. We comply with the relevant industrial relations and work place laws of the jurisdictions in which we operate. All of our work force, other than the supply chain team, are employed in office environments, including all of our China and United States employees, except for a small number of our employees in Australia who are laboratory-based in a fresh milk processing facility. Those employees based in the laboratory are covered by an enterprise bargaining agreement that we comply with.

Supply chain

Infant nutrition

Our largest product category is infant nutrition, which is sold under the a2 Platinum™ brand in New Zealand and Australia and via cross border e-commerce (CBEC) online platforms into China and under our China label brand, a2 至初®, which is sold in mother and baby stores and via domestic online platforms in China.

All of our infant nutrition products are currently manufactured by Synlait Milk Limited (Synlait), a New Zealand dairy processor and manufacturer. Synlait is also listed on the NZX and the ASX and is a “Certified B Corporation” which reflects its commitment to high standards of social and environmental performance in New Zealand. All raw materials and other components that go into manufacturing our infant nutrition products are procured by Synlait. All raw A1 protein free milk that is used for the manufacture of our infant nutrition products is sourced locally from New Zealand farms.

Liquid milk

Our liquid milk is sold under the a2 Milk™ brand in Australia, China, the United States and Canada.

In New Zealand, our a2 Milk™ liquid milk is co-branded with Anchor™ and manufactured by Fonterra Co-operative Group (Fonterra) under licence from a2MC. Fonterra is owned and supplied by more than 10,000 farmers in New Zealand.

In Australia, our a2 Milk™ liquid milk is manufactured at four locations in Victoria, Western Australia, Queensland and at Smeaton Grange in New South Wales. a2 Milk™ manufactured in Victoria, Western Australia and Queensland is manufactured by third parties on a contract manufacture basis, while a2MC Australia operates the processing site located at Smeaton Grange. In the United States, all a2 Milk® is manufactured on a contract manufacture basis. In Canada, a2 Milk™ is sold under an exclusive licensing agreement with Agrifoods International Cooperative Ltd.

Our UHT liquid milk is sold under the a2 Milk™ brand in China, Vietnam, South Korea and Australia. It is manufactured by Nature’s Dairy Australia (trading as Purearth Foods Pty Ltd) on a contract basis in Victoria.

Where a2 Milk™ liquid milk is manufactured on a contract manufacture basis or under a licensing agreement, all raw materials and other components used in the manufacture of the product are sourced by the manufacturer or licensee such that we do not own or have direct supply relationships with the milk suppliers. For a2 Milk™ liquid milk manufactured at Smeaton Grange, a2MC Australia manages the relationships with all relevant suppliers, including with the suppliers of the raw A1 protein free milk. While a2MC Australia now owns the site at which a2 Milk™ liquid milk is manufactured in Kyvalley Victoria, it leases the site to the contract manufacturer and is not involved in the day-to-day operations of the facility.

Other nutritional products

The most significant proportion of our other nutritional segment is a2 Milk™ whole milk and skim milk powder, which are available in Australia, New Zealand and China, with further potential for growth across new channels, particularly in offline China retail channels. Other nutritional products also comprise:

- a2 Smart Nutrition™;
- a2 Smart Nutrition™ UHT;
- a2 Nutrition for Mothers™; and
- a2 Milk™ powder blended with Mānuka honey.

Currently, these products are manufactured by our strategic manufacturing partners who procure all raw materials and other components used in manufacturing the products.

Sourcing from farms

Across our operational footprint the milk that is used in our products is sourced from over 200 farms. Despite not having a direct supply relationship with the majority of our raw A1 protein free milk suppliers, we nevertheless take an active interest in the on-farm practices of those farmers who are supplying the core ingredient of our products. A brief overview of our work with the farmers is set out in further detail in section 5 of this Statement.

In July 2021, we completed the acquisition of a controlling interest in Matura Valley Milk (MVM), a dairy processor in Southland, New Zealand. MVM has direct sourcing arrangements for all raw materials and other components used in the manufacture of its powdered products.

How we are governed

The Board of Directors is responsible for the overall governance and operations of the a2MC Group, setting the Company's strategic direction, monitoring risk (including modern slavery risk), and overseeing the activities of management.

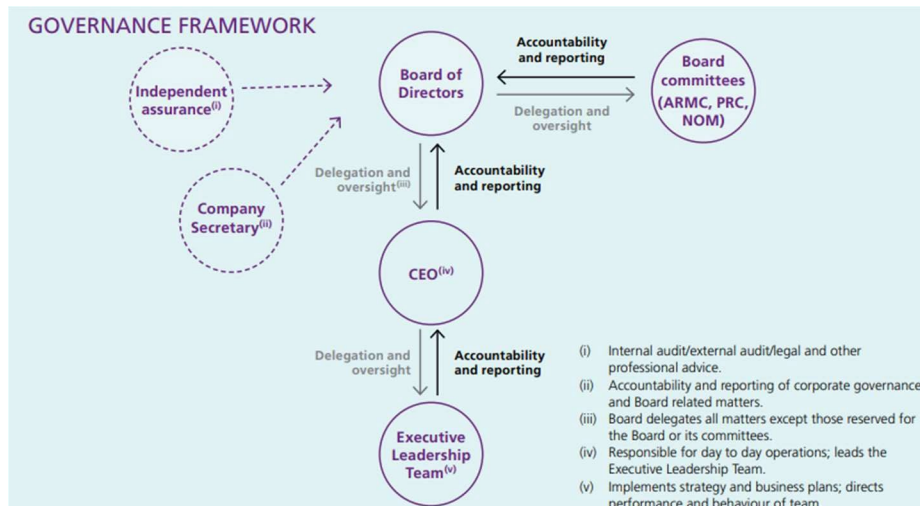

The key roles and responsibilities of the Board are set out in the Board Charter, available on the Company's website at <https://thea2milkcompany.com/corporate-governance>. These include matters relating to the Company's strategic and financial performance; executive management; audit and risk management; strategic planning; corporate governance and disclosure; performance evaluation; workplace health and safety; ethical conduct (including in relation to modern slavery); and assessing and monitoring the effectiveness of the Company's approach to sustainability and the social, ethical and environmental impact of the Company's activities and operations.

The Board is supported by three committees (the Audit and Risk Management Committee, which implements, reviews and supervises the Company's risk management framework, including risks relating to modern slavery, the People and Remuneration Committee, and the Nomination Committee). The Board delegates all matters except those reserved for the Board or its committees to the Chief Executive Officer, who is responsible for the a2MC Group's day to day operations and leads the Executive Leadership Team. The Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Legal and Sustainability Officer oversee the Company's modern slavery assessment, with support provided by other relevant members of the Executive Leadership Team and relevant senior managers and employees across the a2MC Group - this includes members of the Sustainability Team<sup>3</sup> who have responsibility for driving the Company's initiatives to manage the a2MC Group's modern slavery risks.

<sup>3</sup> The Sustainability Team comprises members of senior management including representation from the Executive Leadership Team and those who have been identified as subject matter experts from a regional and/or operational perspective to embed sustainability across our business functions and regions and empower our people to drive initiatives to achieve our sustainability objectives.

The diagram below illustrates a2MC's corporate governance framework.

4 Understanding our risks

We have a risk management programme which assists us in identifying, assessing, monitoring and managing business risk including modern slavery risk, and recognising material changes to our risk profile. Our Risk Management Policy outlines the programme the Company has implemented to deliver appropriate risk management within its processes, systems and culture. A copy of the Risk Management Policy is available at <https://thea2milkcompany.com/corporate-governance>.

Sustainability and ethical sourcing are fundamental for the future success of our business. As a business that is heavily dependent on agricultural inputs, a2MC is exposed to short, medium and long-term environmental and social responsibility risks. The growth of conscious consumerism and increasing expectations around sustainability and ethical sourcing means that exposure to these risks could negatively affect the Company's reputation.

Sustainability is embedded in our growth strategy and one of our top goals. One of our strategic areas of focus includes "Responsible sourcing & distribution", which includes our work in assessing and managing modern slavery risks.

In FY22, we completed the following activities:

- undertaking second-tier review of modern slavery risks;
- commencing review and analysis of modern slavery risks in relation to MVM;
- reviewing indirect modern slavery risks in operations and supply chain;
- expanding due diligence process for higher risk new suppliers;
- developing a modern slavery response protocol, which guides our risk management practices in this area and sets out the key pillars of our response to modern slavery;
- further assessment of our supply chain for risks across our extended value chain in Australia, New Zealand, China and the United States. This included further engagement with relevant internal stakeholders to identify and verify assessment of risks across the supply chain and indirect operations. In particular, further assessment in relation to brand ambassadors in China;
- reviewing employment standards for brand ambassadors in China, with subsequent changes to the Company's engagement with these companies, creating better engagement and oversight and enforcing stricter and better work practices;
- reviewing and updating our existing supply chain standards and policies, including our responsible sourcing policy, as well as those of our key strategic partners, and identifying any gaps in coverage for human rights under those standards and policies;

- reviewing our commercial engagements with our key strategic partners to identify where human rights risk management can be strengthened;
- continuing to update and refine existing training programmes for employees and our on-farm suppliers, having regard to the findings from our further assessment of modern slavery risk, with particular focus on tailored training to be provided to additional relevant employees and third-parties; and
- updating company and supplier standards to ensure coverage of modern slavery and human rights standards.

These activities are discussed in further detail below.

We continue to identify and assess modern slavery and human rights risks both down our supply chain and operations. This assessment and process for identifying areas of concern, as well as the steps we are taking to address any identified risks are detailed in our Protocol.

Agricultural sector

Agriculture is recognised globally as an industry with high modern slavery risks. As the a2MC Group companies source key inputs from the agricultural sector in New Zealand, Australia and the United States, the key areas of exposure in our supply chain are generally on-farm. There are known modern slavery risks within this sector where workers (particularly migrant workers) may be susceptible to labour exploitation, including through long hours, lack of access to breaks and/or low-quality accommodation.

During FY22, to address this risk, we engaged with our internal farm teams to identify any risks with our milk suppliers. In the US, we implemented a process to have our US farmers sign a 'Pledge against modern slavery'. Further detail in section 5 below.

Our focus for FY23 within the agricultural sector is to work closely with the Australia and New Zealand farms services team to consider any further measures we can take to mitigate the risk of modern slavery on all on-farm activities in which we are engaged.

Sales sector – China based brand ambassadors

In the Company's FY21 Modern Slavery Statement, we identified the underpayment of wages as a modern slavery risk associated with the China based brand ambassadors (sometimes referred to as promotional people) who provide instore sales support (building awareness and providing education to shoppers) in relation to our infant nutrition products in the mother and baby store channel in China. This issue was addressed in FY22 by engaging with our distributors and third-party service providers that in turn engage brand ambassadors working at mother and baby stores in China. Further detail on this is discussed in section 5 below.

Distribution and logistics

Across our supply chain, the majority of our distribution and logistics arrangements are managed by our strategic partners or third-party suppliers. We recognise that there may be risks of forced labour and/or deceptive recruitment practices associated with these types of arrangements, including within the shipping industry which we have flagged for future review.

Our key distribution partners in the China market are large, established corporate entities, with which we have contracts that include express obligations to comply with the local labour laws and applicable anti-modern slavery laws in the jurisdictions in which we operate.

The exclusive import agent and distribution partner for our China label infant nutrition products in China, China State Farm, is a state-owned enterprise. As a state-owned enterprise, it is subject to statutory audits by the National Audits Office, with a strong compliance record and reputation. China State Farm in turn contracts with a number of master distributors for the same China label products.

The next step is to engage directly with key distributors to identify any risks of modern slavery, including forced labour, in this channel.

Direct operations

Within a2MC Group's direct operations, the risk of slavery and human rights risks is limited to the employment of employees. Our operations consist almost solely of permanent (on a full-time or part-time basis) employment of our employees in Australia, New Zealand, China and the United States and we comply with the relevant industrial relations laws and work place laws of each of these jurisdictions. A small proportion of our employees are engaged on a fixed term contract (4%) or on a contractual basis through an agency (5%). These agency contractors are based in Australia or the United States. As noted earlier, all of our non-supply chain employees are based in an office environment other than a small number who are laboratory-based in processing facilities in Australia and New Zealand and covered by an enterprise bargaining agreement that we comply with. For these reasons, we consider the risk of modern slavery in our operations to be low. However, we recognise there may be potential risks in our broader indirect operations, under which workers not employed by the a2MC Group play a part, including in sales and marketing.

The next step is to engage with our key strategic partners where these risks may be higher to identify, and address, any modern slavery.

a2MC does not engage in external financing activities or financial investment outside of the direct operations described in this Statement.

Indirect operations

We recognise that there are potential modern slavery risks, particularly forced labour, in other areas of our extended (external) supply chain and operations, including raw material sourcing, uniforms, cleaning and waste management services. We look forward to working further with our strategic partners and suppliers to implement due diligence processes, training, policies and contractual provisions as ways to identify and/or mitigate against such risks. We address our planned next steps for FY23 and beyond, including the further work we plan to do to understand our modern slavery risks, in section 8 of this Statement.

5 How we are managing these risks

a2MC ensures that it complies with all relevant employment standards, industrial relations and work laws of each jurisdiction in which we operate. We maintain, and will continue to update, sound policies and frameworks that govern our corporate behaviour.

Modern slavery response protocol

During FY22, we developed a modern slavery response protocol (Protocol) which was adopted in November 2022. The Protocol sets out the framework for our modern slavery risk management program, focusing on the following 'key pillars' to identifying and responding to modern slavery risk:

- governance;
- risk mapping;
- supplier engagement; and
- grievance mechanisms and reporting.

The Protocol sets out an overview of each key pillar and, within each pillar, the Company's structures and processes to deliver an appropriate modern slavery risk management program. Based on the Protocol, a2MC will prepare periodic plans setting out action items for each of the key pillars, which we will reflect in our modern slavery reporting.

The Company's management team is responsible for overseeing the Protocol.

The Protocol will be reviewed annually by the Audit and Risk Management Committee.

Risk Mapping

We are committed to understanding our risks in relation to modern slavery and identify risks relating to modern slavery as part of our Risk Management Program, as governed by the Risk Management Policy.

At least annually, the Company's management sets the Company's strategic areas of focus for risk identification, in relation to modern slavery. During FY22, the Company's management oversaw the mapping and analysis of risks in relation to our indirect sourcing from farms in the US (see below).

On-farm

In Australia, we have implemented processes to mitigate the risk of labour exploitation on-farm, including:

- updating our due diligence questionnaire to include a section to specifically identify and address modern slavery risks. All new on-farm suppliers undergo a strict due diligence process to ensure compliance with social, animal welfare and sustainability standards; and
- updating our "farm handbook" which is provided to farmers during the on-boarding process, and which assists farmers (amongst other things) in understanding and identifying modern slavery risks.

All farmers supplying raw A1 protein free milk for our products are paid a premium for that milk, providing farmers with support to meet their various costs including the appropriate remuneration of their farm workers.

Some of our strategic partners and suppliers currently have standards and undertake auditing of employment conditions on our supplier farms as part of their best practice requirements for responsible sourcing and environmental management on-farm. These are intended to ensure that industry-wide risks of labour exploitation are appropriately managed.

For example, in the United States, the farms from which we source must certify that they do not use illegal labour, as required by labour laws in that jurisdiction. As foreshadowed in our last Statement, we undertook analysis to identify potential risks in our United States supply chain during FY22. The outcomes of this analysis helped inform our risks disclosed in section 4 above. To combat this risk, we provided our US farmers with a customer-facing 'Pledge against modern slavery', which aligns with the standards in the Responsible Sourcing Policy; .

In Canada, we do not directly source milk from farms, nor indirectly through third party processors. Instead, our revenue is derived via an exclusive licensing arrangement for sales of a2 Milk™ with Agrifoods International Cooperative Ltd, which was entered into during the last quarter of FY20. Identification of potential modern slavery risks in our Canadian supply chain was undertaken in FY22 and was considered as part of our risk analysis in section 4 above and we will also be providing our Canadian farmers with our 'Pledge against modern slavery'.

Within Australia and New Zealand, our next steps include considering any further measures we can take to ensure all on-farm activities in which we are engaged are free-from forced labour and exploitation.

Sales sector – China based brand ambassadors

We recognise that our contribution towards the cost of engaging brand ambassadors may have a direct impact on the amount earned by the brand ambassadors, and that our other requirements may have a direct impact on the age of the brand ambassadors hired, and the nature of their direct contractual arrangements with distributors and third-party service providers.

The brand ambassadors working at mother and baby stores providing instore sales support in relation to a2MC products are typically aged between 30 to 40 years, with significant experience in the industry, and are more likely to be engaged on a permanent basis. As such they are less likely to be subject to labour exploitation.

Through our contracts with the third-party service providers and distributors who engage the brand ambassadors, we indirectly pay for the services of the brand ambassadors or have arrangements to share costs. The amount we pay for services is higher than the average market rate, enabling the distributors and third-party service providers to take their cost margin while still leaving an appropriate amount to be passed on to brand ambassadors. The higher than market fee that a2MC pays reflects our business requirements for brand ambassadors to be suitably experienced and able to provide the highest level of service to customers at our mother and baby stores, including our preference to engage brand ambassadors on a permanent basis (full-time or part-time) to build customer relationships and maintain continuity of service.

The third-party service providers and distributors are subject to Chinese law, including minimum wage and social insurance requirements, which must be complied with.

The standard operating hours of mother and baby stores limit the amount of physical overtime hours that can be worked by brand ambassadors, reducing the potential for exploitation resulting from overtime work.

We are continuing to deepen our understanding of the particular arrangements in place between different distributors and third-party service providers and the brand ambassadors they engage, to further inform our assessment of residual risk of modern slavery in this channel, in addition to actions taken to manage risks as set out in this Statement.

During the reporting period, we commenced a process of reviewing all agreements a2MC has with distributors and third-party service providers that in turn engage brand ambassadors working at mother and baby stores in China. We engaged directly with these companies on this matter resulting in better engagement and oversight and enforcing stricter and better work practices.

We are also in the process of including appropriate clauses requiring compliance with law, including applicable modern slavery laws in all jurisdictions in which we operate, to the extent not already present.

Distributor and supplier contracts

In addition to reviewing our contracts with distributors and third-party service providers who in turn engage brand ambassadors working at mother and baby stores in China (as noted above), we have commenced a process to over time update our supplier contracts to include an anti-slavery compliance clause, so that suppliers understand our expectations in relation to identification and management of modern slavery risk. We continue to assess the potential risks associated with the distribution channels and mother and baby stores channels in China,

Policies and standards

We recognise the importance of setting clear expectations, including through implementation of explicit standards, for our employees and suppliers. We maintain several policies to assist us to manage the risks of modern slavery in our operations and supply chain.

A copy of our policies is available on the Company website at:

<https://thea2milkcompany.com/corporate-governance> .

Code of Ethics

Our Code of Ethics sets out the expectations that the a2MC Group has of our employees and suppliers regarding lawful and ethical conduct.

We updated our Code of Ethics in FY21, to support internationally recognised human rights and principles, including as set out in the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights and the United Nations Global Compact.

Responsible Sourcing Policy

We published our Responsible Sourcing Policy in FY21, setting out our expectations of our suppliers with respect to ethical business practices, including compliance with applicable legislation in the regions where they operate and taking steps to meet international standards to address modern slavery.

Suppliers are expected to notify a2MC (or the relevant member of the a2MC Group with which they have the relationship) where they become aware of incidents involving them or a member of the supplier's group or supply chain that are inconsistent with the standards set out under the Responsible Sourcing Policy. Where suppliers do not feel comfortable with notifying a2MC directly, they can do so anonymously through an external third-party whistleblower channel.

Equal Employment Opportunity, Unlawful Discrimination, Harassment, Bullying and Victimisation Policy and Grievance Handling Policy

Our Equal Employment Opportunity, Unlawful Discrimination, Harassment, Bullying and Victimisation Policy and Grievance Handling Policy makes clear our expectation that our workplace is free from unlawful discrimination, harassment, bullying and victimisation.

Diversity Policy

The Company's Diversity Policy empowers and equips its people leaders to foster a diverse and competent workplace.

Whistleblower Policy

Our Whistleblower Policy sets out protections and support available to those who raise concerns about any suspected misconduct including within our supply chain, which includes our strategic partners, suppliers, distributors, and brand ambassadors in China.

A whistleblower may be a current or former director, officer, employee, contractor or supplier, any other person who has or has had business dealings with us and relatives or dependents of any of those persons or dependents of that person's spouse.

We have internal and independent, external channels through which a whistleblower can report information, and they can do so anonymously.

We will investigate suspected breaches of our policies or misconduct and where breaches or misconduct are identified, our general approach will be to work with our suppliers towards ensuring full compliance with our relevant standards. We may seek to terminate our contractual arrangements or seek alternative supply sources if our suppliers are unable or unwilling to work towards full compliance with the standards, or where the non-compliance is of such a nature that we decide ceasing our association with the supplier is the most appropriate course of action.

Global Anti-Bribery & Anti-Corruption Policy

The Company does not tolerate any form of bribery or corruption and is committed to ensuring that business is conducted according to ethical, professional and legal standards in a fair, honest and open manner.

This Policy identifies the principles and certain specific rules regarding bribery, corruption and facilitation payments in all the jurisdictions in which the Company operates.

Risk Management Policy

The Company's risk management programme comprises a series of processes, structures and guidelines which assist the Company to identify, assess, monitor and manage its business risk, including any modern slavery risks.

Training

All employees are required to complete training relating to the policies described above when they commence employment with us.

We have established a company-wide modern slavery training programme for our employees. This training is mandatory for all employees and aims to assist employees to understand and identify modern slavery risks.

We have also established a more tailored and comprehensive training programme for employees who are involved in those areas of our business where we have identified a higher risk of modern slavery (for example, on-farm), to empower our staff to proactively manage modern slavery risks and implement appropriate remediation actions.

We are committed to continuously updating and refining existing training programs in light of new and emerging risks.

6 How we assess the effectiveness of our actions

We are committed to continuously improving our assessment and management of human rights and modern slavery risk.

The Protocol we have adopted for responding to modern slavery (see section 5 above) intentionally embeds the development of periodic action plans to drive continuous improvement in our practices over time. Our actions are mapped against our 'key pillars' as follows:

- governance;
- risk mapping;
- supplier engagement; and
- grievance mechanisms and reporting.

We have established a register to assess our actions which includes findings such as the number of modern slavery training and awareness-raising programmes delivered, the number of complaints resolved by a grievance mechanism, and the number of contracts that include modern slavery clauses.

Furthermore, all material incidences reported under the Whistleblower Policy, including in relation the Company's supply chain, are reported to the Audit and Risk Management Committee.

7 Consultation

The preparation of this Statement by a2MC involved actively engaging with each of the reporting entities and each of the companies that we owned or controlled during the reporting period. To facilitate this process, we regularly engaged with relevant members of our Sustainability Team, Executive Leadership Team and other relevant employees.

The consultation process was cross-regional and cross-functional. For example, we had relevant members of our People and Culture, Farm Services, Investor Relations, Growth and Brand, and Legal teams across the regions provide input and information as part of the risk assessment process. These members are collectively responsible for business across all of the a2MC Group entities.

Our Board of Directors retains oversight over our human rights and modern slavery risks.

8 Looking forward

Our priorities and actions relating to modern slavery risk management for FY23 and beyond include:

- mapping and analysing the modern slavery risks in key suppliers' supply chains and operations, including Synlait;
- further assessment of modern slavery risk within the rest of the Group's supply chain and operations, including through further engagement with our strategic partners to deepen our understanding of risks in our extended supply chain and indirect operations;
- continuing to update and refine our training programme having regard to the findings from our further assessment of modern slavery risk, with particular focus on tailored training to be provided to additional relevant employees and third-parties;

- continuing to review and update internal policies to ensure coverage of human rights and modern slavery risk as they evolve;
- continuing to update agreements with farms providing raw A1 protein free milk to include a commitment to operate slavery-free;
- continuing to work with our strategic partners to strengthen their standard of employment conditions as part of best practice requirements;
- engaging further with our suppliers by introducing a supplier questionnaire relating to modern slavery risks;
- providing US and Canadian farmers with a customer-facing 'Pledge against modern slavery', which aligns with the standards in the Responsible Sourcing Policy;
- continuing to maintain and update the register of modern slavery assessments;
- progressing a modern slavery remediation process; and
- working with priority suppliers to enhance due diligence within their supply chains.
