WINE, YOUR WAY

Experience beyond the bottle

Over four generations and 130 years, Tulloch have been crafting wines and experiences that reach beyond the bottle, creating better lives of wine, food, family & friends.

our story

An unwavering commitment to quality & authenticity

From unlikely beginnings over 130 years ago, the Tulloch story is one of the most authentic & generational wine dynasties of modern times.

In 1895 John Younie Tulloch owned a general store and accepted an unusual settlement of a debt - a 43 acre property in Pokolbin. Tulloch took an immediate liking to the property and the five acres of neglected shiraz vines it contained and so began the proud family tradition that continues today.

our vineyards

We are firm believers in the philosophy of 'great wines are made in the vineyard'. Our close relationship with our growers ensure all our wines are a true reflection of place and regional typicity.

Tulloch Wines sources fruit from our own vineyards as well as from growers around the Hunter Valley and emerging NSW wine regions.

The majority of our white varietals are sourced from the fertile soils of the Upper Hunter Valley, where our vineyard enjoys a landmark viticultural site on red loam hillsides. All of these vines are of their own roots and were planted in 1988, including our famous Verdelho, Chardonnay and Semillon vineyards.

Our Shiraz vineyards are located in the small original parish of Pokolbin at the foothills of the Brokenback Mountain range in the heart of the Hunter Valley. Combined with this, fruit is sourced from select Pokolbin 'old vine' vineyards to produce our award-winning range of Shiraz wines.

We are lucky enough to enjoy long standing relationships with established growers in the cool-climate emerging regions of Young, Hilltops and Orange in the Central West of NSW, from which we source all our European varieties.

our wines

Whilst Tulloch continues to make outstanding wines from the traditional Hunter Valley varietals of Shiraz and Semillon, today Tulloch is as well known for pioneering Verdelho in Australia.

Hailing from the Portuguese island of Madeira, Verdelho first came to Australia in the 1820s and was used in the production of fortified wines. Just as our Tulloch Shiraz story began in 1895 with the unusual settlement of a debt, our Verdelho story came from equally serendipitous beginnings.

At Tulloch we have made a Madeira style fortified wine from Verdelho since the 1900s. In the 50s & 60s we started blending Verdelho with Semillon (at that time known as Hunter River Riesling) to boost the flavour of the Semillon in the lighter years. In 1982 we made a wine that would not ferment out all of the sugar to produce a dry wine, ending up with a slightly fruity (sweet) wine. We sold it in our cellar door and it was an instant success.

Now 40 years on we are the category leader of this warm climate aromatic white in Australia. Producing a number of styles of Verdelho from the original Crème de Vin (Madeira style) to a sparkling pink low ABV Verscato and various styles in between.
