

CORRYTON ...BURGE...

Introducing Corryton Burge.

When you pick up a bottle of Corryton Burge, you can be sure we haven't just made great wine. We've put our heart and soul into it."

Amelia & Trent Burge

Corryton Burge is created by the sixth generation of the Burge winemaking family of the Barossa Valley. It's named for Corryton Park Homestead, the beloved heart and soul of our family. Nestled in rolling hills and guarded by carved stone griffins, Corryton Park Homestead is steeped in history and alive in the present. It's the central gathering point for family celebrations and sharing the joy of wine with friends.

Wine isn't just something we make, it is a part of who we are.

Our Legacy.

"Our winemaking roots stretch back six generations to one of the earliest immigrant families of the Barossa Valley."

For over 160 years family members have worked tirelessly to build the Burge name into one of the most recognised in Australian wine. The heart and soul of all that work has been passed down through the generations. As today's caretakers of this legacy, Amelia and Trent Burge and their brother Toby, have created Corryton Burge. Guided and supported by their parents Grant and Helen and a band of loyal friends and colleagues, they are committed to sharing the joy of wine.

Brand Foundation.

BRAND VALUES

CONNECTED | The roots of the Burge name run deeply; connecting past to the future, family to friends, and wine to its provenance.

BOLD | A steely resolve tempered with humility, underpins the brand and our aspirations.

TRUE | A genuine love of family, the Barossa and industry ensures our authenticity

BRAND VISION

While we are respectful of our historic past we are excited about our future and its potential. We remain humble, but are driven to succeed in honouring our legacy, and building upon that legacy for future generations. We believe wine is a simple pleasure that brings people together and we take great pride in the role we play in the joy it brings. Above all things, we believe in family.

Purpose:
To share the joy of wine.

Corryton Park.

Nestled in the Barossa's rolling hills, Corryton Park Homestead is guarded by a pair of Griffins, fabled creatures said to protect precious possessions. As the spiritual centre piece for the fifth and sixth generations of the Burge family, we could think of nothing more precious nor anything more imposing to stand guard over it.

Corryton Park is a place where friends and family come together to share the joy of wine.

The griffin is our brand image, the guard and protector of our treasured Corryton Park Homestead and Corryton Burge vineyards, our wines, our animals, and our family.

Behind the Brand.

As a brand we have access to our family's vineyards, production, warehousing and logistic services

Grower Network

Over many years the family has built their extensive network of over 20 growers, including non Barossa regions.

Winery

We own and operate the Illaparra Winery in Tanunda. We crush 2,000 tonnes of our own fruit and as our winemaking facility we have a total capacity of 4,000 tonnes. The winery is also home to our temperature controlled, 6,000 barrel maturation cellar.

Bottling and Logistics

Our own temperature controlled warehouse with 4000 sqm of storage capacity (and a further 8,000 sqm to expand) and bespoke bottling line (9,000L per day). With strong industry relationships this area of our business includes transport and logistics services for both internal and client needs.

Cellar Door

Our public face is Underground Barossa situated on Murray Street, Tanunda. Opened in June 2019 this collaborative space is where we invite guests to 'Step Beneath The Surface' to discover local Barossa wine, produce and experiences, including Corryton Burge.

Burge Family Vineyards.

Our family owns over 300 hectares of vineyard throughout the Barossa region including central and southern Barossa Valley and Eden Valley

The Wines.

Grape growing regions and individual vineyards have been selected to best express each varietal. Fruit-driven winemaking practices allow each wine to clearly and simply assert its true character. The Corryton Burge 'Kith' and 'Kin' ranges celebrate the valued relationships of both friends and family.

Two Principles guide our Corryton Burge winemaking philosophy: Firstly, wine is a simple pleasure that brings family and friends together. Secondly, be true to the variety.' —

Our Wines.

Kith Range:

Over several generations, the Burge family has been fortunate to develop valued and longstanding relationships with people within, and related to, the wine industry. Many a business transaction is sealed by a handshake rather than a written contract. These individuals share our passion and our table.

Kin Range:

Above all things, we believe in family. Our roots run deep, with previous generations coming from two of the key wine growing regions of Australia; Barossa and Tasmania. The decisions we make are made as a family and more likely to occur around the kitchen table rather than a board room. We honour the generations of family, past, present and future, in the naming of our premium range of wine, The Kin Range.
