passion elegance tradition

Tomich Wines - Adelaide Hills - SA

Our Philosophy

The Tomich family has a rich history in winemaking, viticulture and farming stretching back three generations and we believe in 'giving more back to the land than you take'.

Our family has been making wine since 1936. Family patriarch John Tomich learnt first hand the skills and knowledge from his father Ivan and grandfather Jack, who migrated from Croatia in 1903.

Tomich Family is dedicated to sustainable wine growing with a multitude of environmental practices that have been implemented in and around the family vineyard at Woodside.

"We farm with a natural approach, treading softly. Soil structure is key to allowing vine roots to spread out and explore more soil. We rely on the natural systems which the vines thrive on".

"A well-made and beautifully complex wine with excellent fresh fruit flavours."

Toni Paterson – THE REAL REVIEW

"It's smooth, solid and straightforward in both its approach and its appeal."

Campbell Mattinson – HALIDAY MAGAZINE

The Tomich Wines story is about two families coming together. The Tomich's were grape growers and winemakers and the mother's family kept bees and were market gardeners. In honour of our two families, the bee now features alongside the Tomich name in our logo.
