a sub-fund of Maple-Brown Abbott Funds p.l.c. ("the Company")

Share Class: Institutional Sterling ISIN: IE00B284Z023

This document provides you with key investor information about this Fund. It is not marketing material. This information is required by law to help you understand the nature and the risks of investing in this Fund. You are advised to read it so you can make an informed decision about whether to invest.

Objectives and Investment Policy

- The Fund aims to outperform the MSCI All Countries Asia Pacific Excluding Japan Net Index (US$) (the "Benchmark") over rolling four year periods. There can be no guarantee that the investment objective of the fund will actually be achieved.
 - The Fund is considered to be actively managed as it seeks to outperform the Benchmark. The Fund may hold securities not held by the Benchmark, but the majority of the Fund's securities are likely to be components of the Benchmark with a divergence in security and sector weightings as Maple-Brown Abbott uses its discretion to take advantage of investment opportunities. The investment strategy and geographic focus of the Fund will restrict the extent to which the Fund's holdings may deviate from the Benchmark.
 - It is intended that at least two thirds of its total assets will be invested in listed Asia Pacific equities either directly in local markets, or indirectly through Global and American Depository Receipts ("GDRs" and "ADRs") listed on the European and North American stock exchanges. For the purpose of the Fund, Asia Pacific shall include Australia, China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Singapore, Malaysia, New Zealand, Pakistan, Philippines, Thailand, South Korea, Indonesia, Vietnam and India. Generally, the companies it intends to invest in will have a market capitalisation greater than US$500 million.
 - Investments may also be made in unlisted equities, provided that they are expected to be listed within 3 months from the date of investment.
 - The Fund may engage in transactions in financial derivative instruments for investment and/or the purpose of efficient portfolio management. A derivative is a financial instrument whose value is based on the performance of another financial asset, index or investment.
 - Although the use of derivatives (whether used for hedging or investment purposes) may give rise to additional exposure, this will not exceed the net asset value of the Fund.
 - The Fund will seek to buy investments that offer relatively good long term value as measured by a number of traditional indicators.
 - It is intended that all income earned net of accrued expenses will be distributed at least annually.
 - This Fund may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within 4 years.
 - Investors can buy, sell or switch shares daily.
- For more information on the objectives and investment policy of the Fund please see the Prospectus at www.maple-brownabbott.com.au

Risk and Reward Profile

- The risk indicator has been created using historical data and may not be a reliable indication for the future risk profile of the Fund.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The lowest category does not mean risk free.

The Fund has been rated a six because the securities and instruments in which the Fund invests are subject to normal market fluctuations and other risks associated with investing in such investments and no guarantee can be given that their value will appreciate.

Materially relevant risks not adequately captured by the risk indicator include:

- Emerging market risk: A significant portion of the Fund's assets may be invested in emerging markets which may have additional potential risks including lower regulatory standards, less developed settlement systems and economic and political instability.

- Market risk: Some of the Recognized Exchanges in which a Fund may invest may be less well-regulated than those in developed markets and may prove to be illiquid, insufficiently liquid or highly volatile from time to time. This may affect the price at which a Fund may liquidate positions to meet redemption requests or other funding requirements.
- International investment risk: The risk that changes in foreign exchange controls, imposition of confiscatory and withholding taxes, changes in government or economic monetary policy, appropriation of assets, political or economic instability, less rigorous financial reporting or auditing standards, potential difficulties enforcing rights and contractual obligations, and extended settlement periods have an adverse effect on the value of an investment.
- Currency risk: We invest in a number of countries. If the value of their currencies changes relative to other currencies in the Fund, the value of the investment can change.
- Liquidity risk: The Fund has the flexibility to invest a small portion of the portfolios capital in securities or investments that are not listed or rated and consequently liquidity in these investments may be lower.
- Counterparty risk: The Fund may be exposed to a credit risk in relation to the counterparties with whom they transact or place margin or collateral in respect of transactions in financial derivative instruments and may bear the risk of counterparty default.
- Derivatives risk: Derivatives involve the risk of mispricing or improper valuation and the risk that changes in the value of the derivative may not correlate perfectly with the underlying asset, rate or index.

For a more detailed explanation of these and other risks, please refer to the "Risk Factors" section of the Prospectus and Supplement for the Fund.
